FARMERS

Hold Enthusiastic Meeting in Louisa.

Corn Growers Association Organized With Large Initial Enrollment.

About one hundred and fifty farmers of this county were present in the court house on Monday last, gathered in pursuance to the call issued recently by Commissioner of Agriculture Rankin. This was noted in the NEWS last week, and the object was to organize a Corn Growers' Association for this county. Illness had detained Mr. Rankin, but he was ably represented by Mr. Carl Kirk, of Martin county. The object of the association is to promote the corn growing industry in this county. It will also greatly help in the improvement of other branches of agriculture.

The meeting was a very enthusiastic one, and there was no difficulty whatever in forming an association. Seventy-two members were enrolled. John G. Burns was elected President and W. J. Vaughan Secretary. The first regular meeting of the association will be held in this city on the third Monday in March. W. J. Vaughan, J. W. Shannon and Frank McClure were appointed a committee to prepare a programme for that meeting.

Mr. Kirk had a quantity of fine seed corn, furnished by the State. Of this he distributed 62 quarts among the farmers present. The Commissioner of Agriculture will be requested to send an expert in corn growing to attend the March meeting of the Association and give those present the benefit of his experience. A lively interest in agricultural matters pervaded the meeting of Monday, showing that the more intelligent members of this useful class of citizens are awakening to the fact that they can not go on forever in the ways of ancestry ago. This and subsequent meetings of the same sort will do great good.

Slandering Big Sandy.

"Four Big Sandlans, each armed with a large caliber gun and two of them carrying saddle pockets," is the way a certain "news" paper published not a thousand miles from Huntington begins a lurid tale in a recent issue. With this exordium it proceeds to relate the doings of the quartette in one of the numerous disreputable resorts in that place. For three hours the desperadoes, with guns and saddle pockets beat and terrorized the inmates, one of whom was "horribly bruised and hurt." The story is concluded by the statement that "they are known there and have been in the habit of visiting Huntington every week, securing a supply of liquor and carrying it back with them."

The entire narrative bristles with exaggeration and inconsistency, but this is only characteristic of the stories, telegraphic and other sorts, emanating from the source mentioned. What this paper objects to is giving the male characters in the affair a residence on the Big Sandy. If it were possible for such an affair to occur in Louisa we would be as well justified in saying "four Huntingtonians" did so and so. The ruffians with "guns and saddle pockets" were no apt to be from half a dozen places as from the Big Sandy. Finally, we don't believe there were Big Sandlans, anyway. People are too decent.

New Mine at Whitehouse.

The Fluhart Collieries Company organized recently by Mr. Theodore Fluhart, of Dayton, Ohio, and which has acquired large holdings at Whitehouse, has started the work of putting in a big mining plant at Whitehouse and in the course of a few months will be mining and shipping a large amount of coal. The operations of this company will be different from the others in this section for the reason that the coal will be taken from under the hills, while the other operations take the coal out of the hills. The hill coal at Whitehouse was exhausted several years ago, the old Whitehouse Coal Company, the Sandy River Coal Company and the Hammond operation getting all the coal worth mining in the hills. However, soon after the Whitehouse property was acquired by Mr. John C. C. Mayo, by a number of core drill tests he found that a very large vein of high class bituminous coal was on deposit about 80 feet under the surface.

After a number of tests were made, each proving satisfactory, the property was leased to Mr. Fluhart, who organized a company with a capital of $100,000 and set about to develop. Large shafts are being driven to the coal bed and modern mining machinery will be used in bringing the coal to the surface and loading into the cars. It is said the Fluhart operation will be one of the largest in this section and will give employment to at least 1000 men. Most of the property in and around Whitehouse was acquired by Mr. Mayo thus giving ample room for miners' residences, office buildings and commissaries. For several years Whitehouse has had a rather faded appearance, but judging from the good things said to be in store for that place we shall soon expect to see her donning new store clothes. —Paintsville Herald.

President H. C. Black.

The Conference Board of Education for the Methodist Episcopal Church, held an important meeting at Ashland on Tuesday of last week, during which the matters pertaining to the educational interests of the conference were given thorough discussion and some action taken by the board with a view to advancing these interests.

Among other things done, Prof. H. C. Black was chosen unanimously as the president of the Harboursville college.

The meeting was presided over by the Rev. A. Boring, and there was a good attendance of members of the board.

HORRIBLY BURNED.

Mrs. G. L. Burk, who lives four miles southwest of Louisa, was the victim of an accident last Friday morning that may yet result fatally. She was attempting to start a fire with some of the crude oil taken from the O'Brien well on Three Mile, when an explosion occurred and she was very severely burned.

Before using the oil Mrs. Burk had endeavored to start a fire by carrying some embers from another fire place. Failing in this, and having only green or damp kindling wood she picked up a can containing some crude oil and poured a small quantity on the apparently dead coals. Instantly there was a report like that of a shotgun discharged, and Mrs. Burk was enveloped in flames. The fluid covered her back, chest, neck and one side of her face. Mr. Burk heard her scream and ran to her assistance. He took her out and rolled her in the snow until the flames were extinguished. His hands were badly burned in the operation.

Dr. Bromley was called and dressed the wounds. For a few days her chances for recovery seemed to be very slight, but today the conditions are reported to be much more favorable.

Have Gone to Memphis.

After quite a stay with Louisa relatives Mrs. C. H. Williamson and the children who had not already gone left Thursday to join the husband and father in Memphis. Dr. Williamson is the pastor of a large and influential Presbyterian church in that city, and the family will have a delightful paragonage for their home. May happiness and prosperity be theirs, is the wish of their many Louisa friends.

Teachers' Money Not Here.

The State Superintendent has written Supt. Jay O'Daniel that the money for February pay of teachers will not be sent out for about a month yet.

MEDICINE AND SURGERY.

Louisa Coming Into Prominence for Treatment of Disease.

In nothing has more advance been made during the past two or three decades than in medicine and surgery. The progress made in correct diagnosis and in the use of the correct remedies and the adoption of the correct treatment is wonderful, and is appreciated more by the profession than by the laity. This is not to be wondered at. Medical men know what difficulties they have overcome, and appreciate the gravity of the troubles they have surmounted and the nerve and the skill which must be used to achieve success. Today the innermost recesses of the human body, not omitting the heart and brain, are explored for cause, and these vital parts are manipulated and cut and sewed with almost as much seeming indifference as was once shown in the removal of a finger or a toe. Things are done every day to this mortal frame of ours which, if unsuccessfully attempted forty years ago, would have caused the surgeon to be lynched if death had followed his knife.

These successes, notwithstanding an occasional failure, are hailed by the public with joy. Women who have been invalids for years now calmly lie down upon the operating table, inhale the blessed anesthetic and awake minus their burden and make swift and sure recovery of health and happiness.

The NEWS desires for their good to bring these things to the notice of its readers. Disease and accident will strike you sometimes, and as little faith as you have or profess to have in "doctorin'", when these misfortunes assail you you want the best you can get. Please understand that from what follows the personal equation is entirely stricken out, but this paper is prepared to say and does say that in this city of Louisa there are physicians and surgeons prepared to diagnose and treat successfully, where success is possible, any known disease, surgical or otherwise. Men wounded and broken in nearly every part and organ have been brought to Louisa for treatment and have gone home cured. Women who have suffered for years agony such as they only can describe have been made sound and happy. Some have come too late and found relief only in death. But the percentage of death has been very small, and in no single case has death resulted from the operation.

If hospital care is demanded it can be found in Louisa, accessible from all points. It is well equipped, sanitary and roomy, and your own physician or surgeon may attend you if you desire it. The NEWS can see no good reason why sick and injured men and women should be taken to distant cities for medical or surgical treatment when in three or four hours by rail they can reach a place, where every condition of care and cure can be met. There are often times when minutes are precious, when relief must be quick if it comes at all. Think of what is here written for the good of suffering humanity and act accordingly.

A Hatchet-Cherry Flinch.

A very pretty and unique affair was the Flinch party given by Mrs. Tom Vaughan on Tuesday afternoon last. It was the anniversary of Washington's birthday and the handsome decorations and the menu were designed to bring out this feature of the occasion. Cherries, in fruit and trees, and hatchets in sandwiches emphasized the holiday side of the day.

Three tables of delighted guests played the game until quite a late hour and then enjoyed the delicious refreshments served in elegant profusion.

Deserves Many Stars.

Mrs. Jennie Cordle, whose obituary appears elsewhere in this paper, had been a devoted member of the church for 49 years, and had borne 16 children. If many stars do not shine in her crown of glory the rest of us might as well give up trying.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT

Was That Given by Local Talent Last Saturday Evening.

One of the best "shows" under a roof that was ever given in Louisa was the entertainment presented by some amateurs at the Masonic Hall on last Saturday evening. Long before the curtain rose for the first number on the programme the hall was completely filled by an appreciative and enthusiastic audience, and when it fell upon the final performance of that multi-sided Sweet Family the verdict of excellence was unanimous. To speak highly of any one performer or performance when all did so well, and make no reference to others looks like making invidious comparisons. Hence it will not be done, in this friendly notice. All who took part in the programme were amateurs, and it is probable that some of them made their first bow to an audience on this occasion. Yet there was no "stage fright," no awkwardness, and if any slips were made the recovery was so good and so swift that nothing wrong was noticed.

Let us say a little of each number: Miss Grace Remmel's first faced her friends with a catchy and pretty song. She did so well in voice and manner that a well deserved encore brought her again to the front, pleasing as before with her sweet tones.

"Two Women and One (Invisible) Man," a sketch by Misses Jean McClure and Goldie Hyington next delighted the audience. It was rendered in a very spirited and attractive manner, and in the final amusing up it was probably well for Mr. Man that he was not present in the body.

Prof. Spradlin, of the K. N. C., in his "coon" sketch, with G. A. Nash as interlocutor, elicited much applause. He has a good voice and his make-up was true to the part.

One of the prettiest features of the entertainment was the "Pony and Boy" drill. The girls were pretty, and the various evolutions of the drill were rendered with a dash and grace which would do credit to professionals of large experience. The good looks of the bunch of "boys" and the neatness of their movements won for them several recalls. The costume of the participants was not the least attractive part of the member.

"Yip-I-Addy-I-Ay." This sketch was in the nature of a revelation to the audience. Not everybody knew it was coming, and still fewer knew who the players were even after they had appeared. It was a burlesque upon high-toned music, and the spirit and humor with which it was given made it one of the most enjoyable features of the evening. Mrs. G. A. Nash, Miss Grace Remmel, G. A. Nash and John G. Burns were the "musicians," and they surely did well. It took several renditions of "Yip-I-Addy-I-Ay" to satisfy the calls for more.

The final number of the programme was the appearance of The Sweet Family, "Ma" Sweet, Miss Harriet Rees, and her daughters—seven sensible, silly, sardarine, saucy and serpentine sisters, namely Arminty Ann Sweet, with many winning ways, Imogen Porter, Betsy Belindy Sweet, the delicate one, Julia Dorcas Snyder, Caroline Cordelia, Mattie Flinch, Dorothy Dellah, Margaret Lackey and Both Twins.

Elizabeth Eliza Sweet, by far the most attractive, Bessie Hyington, Frances Fedory Sweet, who loves flowers, Rebecca Lackey, Glorianna Gadabout, Sweet, who giggles, Bessie Reid, each of these was introduced by her doting maternal parent, and each reflected credit upon her "Ma" as such and as their trainer.

Taken as a whole this entertainment was much superior to that given by any of the fly-by-night shows which sometime favor us with a call. To Mrs. Nash and Miss Rees the elocution teacher of the K. N. C., great credit must be given for their efficient and untiring efforts to make the entertainment the pronounced success it was. If you think that the preparation and giving of such an affair does not demand great skill, patience and tact, try it once.

Mrs. John Burns furnished the piano accompaniment in a very satisfactory manner, and before the rising of the curtain she and Mr. Burns with bones and Messrs. Hiram Herr, of Lexington, and Fred Remmel, with bass and tenor drums, rendered some attractive pieces. Mrs. Burns and Mrs. Clyde Miller also favored the audience with a piano duet.

The net receipts of this very creditable affair were about forty dollars. The NEWS understands that the numerous demands for a repetition of the entertainment will be complied with at an early date.

Death of Prominent Floyd Man.

Eljah B. Auxier died last week at the home of John May, near Prestonsburg, where he had been confined to his sick-bed from a combination of weaknesses for several months. He had been very low for several weeks, but up to within one week ago he was slightly better. On Sunday, the 13th, he suffered a relapse which resulted in his death. He has been a lingering illness, and his death was not altogether unexpected, but it is nevertheless a grief to all his friends and to those who knew him. He is survived by his wife and six children. The funeral was held according to Masonic rite, and interment took place at the mouth of John's Creek.

Child Ground to Pieces.

Another of the ever occurring railroad accidents took place Wednesday evening, February 16, at Chatteroy, W. Va., when Frank Mottershook, a 10-year-old boy, was ground to bits under the wheels of a passing freight. The boy had been noticed standing near the train, which had stopped there for a little bit, but no one saw the accident itself. It is supposed that he tried to jump it, and fell between the wheels. His remains were mangled almost beyond any recognition. He was a son of Joe Mottershook, of Chatteroy.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

Report of the Secretary of Lawrence County Association.

The secretary of the County Association, O. J. Vaughan, is absent from the State, and I have agreed to continue the work until his return. It is a real pleasure to feel that I am still officially connected with the work of the County Association; and I trust that by the time the secretary returns, about the first of May, we shall have the year's work well launched.

For the information and encouragement of the workers, both lay and preachers, I am giving you, in the following lines, a brief summary of the secretary's report for 1909.

The number of schools last year was 61, a gain of 4 over the previous year. The enrollment was 4142, a gain of 777. The average attendance was 2517, a gain of 219. Officers and teachers 498, a gain of only 1. Evergreen schools 28, a gain of 5. Number of schools represented at the County Convention 58, a gain of 40; and, so far as I am able to find, the best record ever made by any county in the State. 13 schools reported Cradle Rolls, which was a gain of 9. The report shows 226 conversions and additions to the church, as against 101 the previous year. Our contribution to the expenses of the county and State work was $111.64, an increase of $18.14 over that of 1908. In this respect we outstripped all other counties in the State. A few other counties contributed more, but they were the rich populous counties and gave out of their abundance, while we gave out of love and gratitude.

As we look to the future, I trust that every county and district officer will begin at once to plan for a still greater year. Why not? With the aspiration of the magnificent achievements of last year, and our growing knowledge in the ways of working, as well as our quickened convictions as to the worth of endeavor, surely we shall be recreant to our duty if we fail to raise the standard higher this year. Who will be first to lead off in planning for a district convention? W. J. V.

OIL DOINGS.

Leasing Continues to be Interesting Subject.

Standard and Independent Agents in Here Securing All Available Territory.

Interest in the oil business continues unabated in this county. The Standard Oil Company agents are buying leases in this vicinity. They are taking property as far as two miles north of Louisa and nine miles south.

Representatives of two large independent companies have been here within the past week.

The Standard's contract with Mrs. Hannah Lackey on her farm on Three Mile is as follows, according to more definite information than we had last week:

They paid her $1000 cash and agree to drill five wells on the farm within a year or forfeit $200, for each well they fail to drill. In the event oil or gas is found in paying quantities in the first well, she is to accept thereafter royalties instead of forfeitures and rentals. The farm is said to contain from 200 to 250 acres.

We are informed that G. D. Williamson has been offered $5000 for his farm near Saltpeper. The offer is said to have come from the Standard. The farm contains about 240 acres.

The O'Brien well is not yet pumping. The pump was put in place Saturday, but is not working satisfactorily. It will be taken out today in an effort to locate and remove the trouble.

The next well on the O'Brien farm will be located about 1500 feet north of the first well.

Has Won Distinction.

Robert Bickel returned from New Orleans last week, where he had been attending a meeting of the Southern Century Club. This club consists of prize winners in the 1200 or more agents of the Equitable Life Insurance Co. To attain membership agents must write a certain large amount of insurance. Mr. Bickel is one of the fifty-one who reached the mark, and various good things have been given him—trips, with all expenses paid, etc. The latest journey was to the Crescent City during the Mardi Gras season. Here they had an especially good time, all the nice things pertaining to the Carnival season in a Southern city having been greatly in evidence. The Club was photographed for the city papers, but Bob doesn't show up on paper nearly so well as he appears on the records of the Equitable Life. He came home with a bunch of nice souvenirs and a sort of "the morning after" taste which will disappear by plain living.

Mrs. Queen Submits to Operation.

Mrs. William Queen, of this place, who has been an invalid for several months, was operated upon at River-view hospital on Saturday last. Her trouble is tubercular peritonitis, with some serious complications. With the hope of substantial relief Dr. T. D. Burgess, with the assistance of Dr. Z. A. Thompson, of Pikeville, and Drs. York, Bromley and Wroten, of this city, successfully performed a laparotomy. Mrs. Queen, though very frail and weakened by disease, rallied well and is at this time much better. She is the daughter of William Burton, of Lack Creek.

Big Sandy Again to the Front.

W. S. Wallen, who addressed the students of the K. N. C., on January 3rd, won the prize in the oratorical contest at Valparaiso, Ind., on the 15th of February. Mr. Wallen is an old pupil of the K. N. C. He has often been heard to say that whatever of good fortune he may have in the future is due to the training he received in this great school.

Fruit raisers who have examined the peach buds report that the late spell of zero weather sealed the fate of the peach crop in this vicinity for 1910. Some parties report that they are unable to find any buds left with the least sign of life. Fruit was plentiful last year, and if there is to be a crop failure this year it means a little harder struggle for many families to solve the problem of making both ends meet.—Hopkinsville Keatuckian.

Jackson, Ky., Feb. 17.—This city was badly shaken yesterday by the fall of a cliff of rock overhanging the county road on Cane Creek, four miles from town. The whole side of the mountain for more than 125 yards tumbled into the road and creek near the residence of "Terraplin" Jack Little, destroying the road and filling up the creek. Constable Clay Wadkins was riding along at the time, and only missed being buried alive by a margin of ten yards. The landslide is explained by the fact that the ground has been undermined by coal miners.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 19.—Mountain members of the Legislature, some of them, are asserting that they are not being given a square deal. Their complaint is based upon the long adjournment, from Friday afternoon to Wednesday morning. A representative from one of the mountain counties, and one of the few members who are remaining over in Frankfort, said that because of the distance to his home from the State Capitol he must sit about the hotel and mope, while other legislators are enjoying the comforts of home during the adjournment, or "gallivanting" over the State.

"Why, if I started home," he said, "it would take me five days to get there, and I would be that long getting back. All I can do now is to sit around and hold my hands until the session is convened Wednesday."

Death of Mrs. J. A. Curnutte. Portamouth, Ohio, Feb. 15, 1910.—A long illness with a complication of diseases resulted in the death of Mrs. Maud Curnutte, aged 24 years, wife of James A. Curnutte, of Portamouth, on last Monday afternoon. The final summons came shortly after one o'clock.

Mrs. Curnutte was born in West Virginia, her maiden name being Miss Maud Ferguson. She wedded James Curnutte and together they came to this city about five years ago. To them was born one child, Gussie, aged 16 years. About two years ago Mrs. Curnutte was taken ill and her condition steadily grew worse. Her death was not unexpected, yet it comes as a deep shock to her many friends. Her husband and daughter and brother, Robert, and two aunts, Mrs. Hatten and Mrs. Wm. Mikes, were with her when death came. Two brothers, Clyde and Elwood, and a sister, Georgia, were not present.

The deceased was a staunch member of the Trinity Methodist Church. She did not fear death, but wanted to leave her companion and daughter. Although we miss her and her home is so lonesome without her, yet her Lord knows best, and therefore we must submit to his will.

The funeral was held at the home Wednesday afternoon. She was laid to rest in Green Lawn cemetery. Mrs. C. G. Johnson.

OBITUARY.

Jennie Cordie, wife of Amos Cordie, was born March 18, 1831, and departed this life February 8, 1910. Her maiden name was Jennie Thompson, and she was married to Amos Cordie March 9, 1861. She died at her home on Brushy Fork of Blaine, where she had lived for 58 years.

Mrs. Cordie had been a faithful and devoted member of the United Baptist Church for 49 years. She was the mother of 16 children of which 11 are still living, and are among the most prominent and useful citizens of our county. Those living are Fannie, wife of Sam Hays, Jane, wife of Milt Hays, Lucy, wife of John Isaac, and Mary, wife of W. M. Lester. Jerry, Enoch, Bill, John, Tom, Lewis and Jesse Cordie are the sons who are prosperous farmers living mostly in the same neighborhood where their parents have passed so many useful and happy years.

One son and four daughters have passed to the Great Beyond. One an infant, 16 months old; the others were Russell Cordie, Mrs. James Adams, Mrs. Jake Arrington and Mrs. Joba H. Curnutte.

Somewhat removed from the centers where wealth could be accumulated speedily, still by her and her husband's frugality and industry they had attained enough of this world's goods for all their needs on life's eventful road.

Mrs. Cordie was a deeply pious woman. She had an abiding peace with God for almost half a century. She carried out in her life what she experienced in her heart. She was a faithful, energetic Christian woman. I have been informed by those who were with her in her last hours that she was not alarmed at the approach of death. Like the soldier who is aerved and strengthened by the words of his commander in the midst of the battle, so was she as she thought of her chief Commander, the Lord Jesus, who said, "Lo, I will be with you always even unto the end."

After 79 years of swiftly rolling time the wheels of life stood still. The tired heart ceased its throbbings; the immortal spirit of this good woman winged its flight to a better and fairer world. May God bless the disconsolate and bereaved husband and all the children, and enable them by grace divine to meet her in Heaven. A Friend.

A monument to the "Goebel Reward Commission" would now be quite in keeping with the doings of that ancient and honorable aggregation—Maysville Ledger.

The Goebel Reward Commission expended in the efforts to apprehend and convict the assassins of Goebel something like $13,000, out of $100,000 that was at the Commission's disposal. Did you ever hear of a Republican Commission letting anything like that get away?—Cynthiana Democrat.

Representative Langley has two gift canes, the wood in each of which is cut from a Pauama railroad tie. One cane, with a handle of Panama Ivory, he presented to Postmaster Hitchcock. The other, the handle of which weighs a pound and is made of an Azores whale tooth, Mr. Langley will give to Senator Bradley. It is inscribed "To the Ideal Kentuckian."

A good many Kentuckians will not designate Mr. Langley to choose their "Ideal Kentuckian."

Speaking for the Board of Prison Commissioners, Judge Finley Fogg, of Paintsville, a member of the commission, says that, as a member of the board, he is not trying to hide any of the evidence that has been taken in the investigation of the Frankfort Penitentiary by State Inspector and Examiner M. H. Thatcher. Judge Fogg says that he would be glad to have his deposition published to the world, and he feels confident that the other members of the commission are equally as desirous of having the evidence published.

OSIE.

Death visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Holbrook the 3rd of February and took from them their darling babe, about 15 months old. A father and mother and two sisters are left to mourn his death.

Loved ones, do not weep for little Lester, but get ready to meet him where there will be no more good-byes. In the death of this precious one the home has lost a sparkling jewel, but he has gone to shine with far more splendor upon the golden shore of the New Jerusalem. At the great resurrection day the parents will hear the Master say, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, here is your darling babe." The little crib is empty now, the little clothes laid by, a mother's hope, a father's joy in death's cold arm doth lie. Go little pilgrim to thy home on yonder blissful shore. We miss you here, but soon will come where thou hast gone before.

The Sick.

Lagrippe continues to hold some of our people in its embrace. Mrs. J. J. Fagg was very sick during the latter part of last week and the first part of this, but she is now able to be up. Her niece and guest, Mrs. Leta Hayes, of Rural Retreat, Va., has been sick with grippe complicated with malaria, for some ten days and is still confined to bed, somewhat improved today. Miss Isabella Fagg, who had a severe attack of the prevailing disorder, is convalescent.

WHY IT SUCCEEDS.

Because It's for One Thing Only, and Louisa People Appreciate this.

Nothing can be good for everything. Doing one thing well brings success.

Doan's Kidney Pills do one thing only. They cure sick kidneys.

They cure backache, every kidney ill.

Here is Louisa evidence to prove it.

Mrs. Lizzie Skaggs, Lock avenue, Louisa, Ky., says: "I have never heard of a case where Doan's Kidney Pills have not lived up to representations. A cold which settled on my kidneys caused an attack of lumbago and I also suffered from rheumatic pains through the lower part of my back. My kidneys and bladder became inflamed and the kidney secretions were scanty. There was a dropsical swelling in my limbs and I always felt tired, weak and nervous. The contents of two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills gave me entire freedom from these annoying symptoms of kidney complaints. I have been convinced that Doan's Kidney Pills will help anyone suffering from kidney trouble." (Statement given January 28, 1908.)

One June 21, 1909, Mrs. Skaggs was interviewed and she said: "I gladly confirm the testimonial I gave in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills a year and a half ago. I have had no return of kidney complaint since this remedy cured me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

TWIN BRANCH.

The sick in this community are all improving.

The winter has been cold and disagreeable, yet we anticipate a bountiful fruit year.

Several of our farmers are now figuring on raising a tobacco crop.

There seems to be much talk about hog raising as a remedy for high-priced meats.

One of our neighbors has Mr. Patten, the flour king, faded by storing away two hundred and fifty bushels of wheat (his last year's crop) for future reference, and refuses to sell a bushel at any price.

Jerry Large has moved back to his Catt's fork farm, after spending five years among the West Virginia hills.

Dug Jobe, from Guyan river, was among us recently, and reports his success last year in tobacco raising. Colby Sparks, after three prosperous and successful years in the coal fields of West Virginia, is moving back to his farm on Morgan's Creek.

Hamsey & Hammonds are doing a lively saw mill business on Twin Branch, near Osie.

Harvey Jobe, Jr., has hauled in a fine lot of logs to be sawed near his home in the near future.

Sam Jobe is moving into his old home near Osie.

Mrs. Nora Jobe and little sons, after an extended visit to Chattanooga, W. Va., will return home Saturday of this week.

Not a single reported wedding from this community this winter is true.

BLAINE.

The sad intelligence has just reached us that Tom Boggs, who has been in a hospital at Louisville the past six weeks, died Monday. He will be brought home for burial. Mr. Boggs was a consistent Christian and the evidence he left is proof positive that he died as he had lived in the triumph of a living faith. He was a member of the firm Gaubill & Boggs, leading merchants here at Blaine, and he was a gentleman in the truest and fullest sense of the word. His devoted wife has been by his bedside during his entire illness. May God strengthen her to bear her burden in the bereavement of her beloved husband. He is gone but not forgotten. Tom, dear Nan, will wait for you to join him in that realm of bliss where there is no pain nor death, neither sickness nor sorrow.

Night Riders in Cabell.

the tobacco barn of a man by the name of Bryan, a relative of Police Judge Bryan, of that city, had been destroyed by fire. The barns were burning of Bryan's barns was some more of their work.

The loss sustained by Bryan is approximately $2,000, and there was brought $166.00, Will Young being

NEWS OF THE FARM.

EGG PRODUCTION.

Mr. L. E. Keyser, in Southern Poultry Journal, says:

While the first factor in securing winter eggs is to have the right kind of hens or pullets, their care must not be overlooked. Some are of the opinion that if we feed correctly, the hens must lay. While feeding is important, it is not the whole thing. A hen cannot do her best without suitable food, and a poor hen will not do credit to any kind of care.

There can be little doubt that the environment has much to do with egg production. During the winter, except in especially favored localities, hens are confined for most of the time to the house, and it should be made comfortable to them. Hens like sunshine, especially in cold weather, and abhor dark and damp houses. They will spend most of their time out of doors rather than stay in a dark house, even in cold, bad weather.

For the promotion of health, which in most cases means an increase in egg yield, the house should be light, dry and airy. Hens kept most of the time in the open air, if protected from wind and rain, will lay better than those confined to a damp, closed house. I believe in and use houses open on the south side. My houses have no glass windows, the buildings being lighted solely by the opening on the south side. There is an elevated, tight roosting room, also open on one side, except for a canvas curtain, which is lowered at night. So far this season I have not used the curtain in front of the roosts. Fifty birds in the small space 3x16 and less than three feet high, have so warmed it sufficiently without the use of the curtain, though this leaves them with only one thickness of the muslin between them and the outer air. My fowls were kept in similar houses last year, and I did not have a female with a frost-bitten comb.

If houses are of the closed type the windows should be opened every day, and if dampness gathers on the walls the windows should remain open during the night. It is well to cover these openings with muslin. I have one house built on the scratching-shed plan, with a tight roosting room, 8x10. This room was made very tight and warm, but several birds placed in it last season, with windows closed, froze their combs. Then I removed four 7x9 glasses and covered the opening, and have since had no trouble. This is the only closed house I have with glass windows, and I would not have this one if it had not been on the place when I occupied it. The birds can stand cold but not dampness. Make the portion of the house occupied by the hens during the day an open scratching shed and keep them busy.

Have the dust bath where the sun will shine on it the greater portion of the day, as it is absolutely necessary that the hens be comparatively free from lice, and body lice multiply rapidly during cold weather, when not molested by the red spider mites, which drive them off. If given a good dust bath the hens will usually keep off the body lice, with very little assistance, but the head lice must be fought, as the hens cannot get to them.

It goes without saying that the house should be kept clean. Just how often the dropping boards should be cleaned and the scratching material removed depends largely on the number of the hens in the house and the amount of room given them. With fifty hens in the pen I find the dropping boards must be cleaned every other day, and the latter is practically worn out inside of a month. Some allow the droppings to fall on the floor, where they freeze, and by occasionally sprinkling them with a little land plaster prevent any bad odor. I do not favor this plan.

Fresh water and succulent green food are absolutely necessary for winter egg production. The egg is about 70 per cent. water, and the body of the hen contains nearly 60 per cent. It is therefore apparent that she must have a liberal supply of water. Foods contain from 10 to 50 per cent. water and some of the green foods as high as 80 per cent., but these she is not apt to get in large quantities during the winter. The drinking water should always be fresh and palatable. Green food not only supplies considerable moisture, but is a great aid in digesting other foods.

Proper feeding is one of the most essential factors in egg production, but other requirements must be met or the best food in the world will not make the hens lay. The neglect of seemingly unimportant matters will often check laying, so care must be given to every detail. Make the fowls comfortable at the start, and it will require little labor to keep them so. Then with good feed we can expect winter eggs.

POULTRY PLEAS.

Editor Home and Farm:

Will you give me a remedy for the little black poultry flea? These fleas are a terrible pest.

Temple, Ga.

Crude carbolic acid has been found good as a remedy for fleas. It not only kills the fleas, but it seems to drive them away. If carbolic acid is sprayed over the floor and roosts about twice a month, the fleas should disappear. It is necessary always to keep the poultry yard and houses in perfect condition, and to see that no dogs nor hogs are allowed near the poultry if we expect to keep the chickens free from the flea pest.

POULTRY POINTERS.

The periods of incubation recognized as approximately correct are as follows: Common hen, twenty-one days; pheasant, twenty-five days; duck, twenty-eight days; peafowl, twenty-eight days; guinea, twenty-five days; goose, thirty days; turkey, twenty-eight days.

Poultry raising as a side line is a safe occupation, and can be made both profitable and pleasant. As an exclusive occupation it is a different matter and should be entered into only after careful consideration.

Ashes help to keep away lice. Scatter them all over the roosts and inside the poultry house. Whirl the ashes through the air and let them settle, being careful that there is no fire in them.

If you have healthy fowls, you must not feed them in filthy vessels, and must see that they have an abundance of pure, fresh water. Scald out all vessels frequently and spread lime on the floor and grounds used by the birds.

Every hen that does not pay for her keep by laying eggs should be sold at once. There are thousands of hens in the poultry yards that are losing money for their owners. Find out whether you have such hens and, if so, get rid of them.

The best way to begin the poultry business is in a small way. As you learn from experience, the best teacher, you can increase your flock and find out the best markets for your products.

Buttermilk is excellent food for poultry. If the hens drink too much buttermilk, there is danger from upsetting the bowels, and this should be watched.

CURE FOR SORE FOOT.

Editor Home and Farm:

I saw in the Home and Farm a filly with a sore foot. It is dew poison. If he will take buttermilk and put coppers in it until it makes it green, and bathe with it, it will cure it. I had one that way and cured it.

WEST VIRGINIA NEIGHBORS.

An oil well was started on Peter Cave creek, in Wayne county, last week. Oil experts for a considerable time have had a hunch that the greasy would be found in that or the territory lying adjacent.

The United States Supreme Court has dismissed the appeal of Henry C. King from the decision of the West Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals in the famous King land case, thus virtually knocking out King's claim.

The Charleston city council has finally passed an ordinance granting liquor license. The question is now up to the Kanawha county court which body decided sometime ago that it would not consider the liquor license question again before its regular July term.

Tug Teachers' Association.

On Friday, March 14, at Bluefield there will be a meeting of the teachers of the Tug Valley section with the idea of forming an association. The moving spirit is Prof. G. M. Ford, Superintendent of the Bluefield schools. A program is being prepared for the initial occasion and it is anticipated that a number of teachers from the Williamson schools will attend, and they will also be represented on the program.

Lots of Hunters.

Over 300 licenses have been issued during the past year by Clerk Damron, of the Mingo county court, to those who would hunt within the confines of the county. In some of the larger counties, where game is abundant, the number of licenses has run up into the thousands. The new law has proved to be a revenue producer, whether it has served to protect the game of the State or not.

Vinson May Get Fine Position.

The following news telegram from Washington will be a hit of very pleasant news to the many friends and admirers of Col. Z. T. Vinson, the Huntington barrister, who believe that there is nothing too good for him, even from President down:

Washington, Feb. 17.—Some curiosity developed today over the conference of Taylor Vinson with Attorney General Wickersham. Subsequent inquiry disclosed that Vinson may be appointed assistant to the Attorney General succeeding Wade Ellis, who resigns to assume the Republican chairmanship in Ohio.

Mr. Vinson's fitness for the place has been described to Mr. Wickersham by Senator Elkins and it is intimated tonight that both Senators will favor the appointment if President Taft indicates a willingness to give it to West Virginia and especially to give the city of Huntington one more big federal place. Huntington already has Mr. Northcott, the minister to Columbia, and Mr. Tyree the United States Marshal. The place sought for Mr. Vinson pays $7000 a year and ranks next to a cabinet position. The chief duties are to assist the Attorney General in the prosecution of trusts. If Vinson wins, an effort may be made to give Dillon, the Payette lawyer, something nearly as good.

Statistics of West Virginia.

Agricultural field products were produced in West Virginia during the year 1909 to the amount of $18,362,839. The value of the fruit products amounted to $2,322,631.20, while the value of live stock amounted to $44,618,529.80.

These figures are gathered from reports made by the assessors in the several counties of West Virginia to the department of agriculture and compiled for the year by secretary J. M. Millan.

These statistics show that interest in agriculture in West Virginia is increasing and the value of the crops was larger in 1909 than in the previous year.

Corn was king among the products of the field and there was produced over 10,000,000 bushels of corn in the State during the past year of a value of over $8,000,000. The value of the hay crop was about one half as large.

The apple was king among the fruits produced in West Virginia in 1909, and the reports show that there were 3,128,906 bushels of apples produced in the State with a value of $1,887,330.60.

In the live stock reported to the department of agriculture it is shown that there were 285,406 horses in the state valued at $22,829,600.

Lincoln's Tobacco Crop.

So far there has been two thousand and two hundred and thirty tobacco wagons loaded with tobacco that have gone into West Hamlin and the rush still continues. However, more than half the 1909 crop has been sold but it has been a notable year for the weed and an immense amount of money has been scattered over this county and the good prices will stimulate the growers for next year. Lincoln county lends as the banner tobacco growing county in West Virginia—Lincoln Republican.

This shows what tobacco raising is doing for Lincoln county. We wonder how many Mingo and Pike county farmers are planning to try a tobacco crop this year? Let us hear from our section this next fall with a large crop of the weed. It will soon be time to plant the seed beds, and if you are going to attempt a crop, you should be arranging now for first class seed and be taking steps to learn more about the manner of cultivation of this plant.—Williamson Enterprise.

Perch Floating Down Guyan.

A very peculiar circumstance which is causing much comment, and is the cause of much theorizing is the floating of shoals of white perch down the Guyan river and into the Ohio. The fish began coming down stream several days ago and are still floating. They appear on their backs, near the surface of the water, and upon examination appear to be in a stunned condition. Several theories have been advanced to account for the strange incident, but as yet no satisfactory explanation has been made. Some think that the fish are in a torpid condition caused from freezing, and that they have sought the warmth of the river's surface.

Large numbers of the perch have been taken from the stream and examined, and other than their torpid condition they present no diseased appearance.

The water of the river has been examined, too, although no chemical analysis has been made, and it shows no traces of having been polluted. That the fish have not been poisoned by the pollution of the stream is made evident by the fact that the floating fish are all perch, while poison in the water would affect all species of fish in the river.

Another Life Nailed.

When all other sources of news fail with some of the newspapers in the eastern section of the United States, and not always excepting West Virginia, it is always in order to spring a new story about the Hatfields. These are swallowed with great gusto by the gullible public, however untrue or unfair to the long suffering Hatfields they may be. The latest is that "Cap" Hatfield shot nine times recently at some Virginia revenue officers who tried to arrest him. One of our exchanges comments on the matter as follows, which is very much to the point:

"The report sent out from the Norfolk & Western section concerning 'Cap' Hatfield having shot a number of times at some United States Deputy Marshals who were attempting to arrest him turns out to be a falsehood.

"In fact anybody who knows Cap might have known there was something 'leaky' about the story, when it said that Hatfield had shot nine times and had missed the mark every time.

"Cap is not the old and decrepit man and leader of the Hatfield clan as some of the newspapers declare he is. He is probably 45 years old and is as spry as he ever was—plenty able to give the reporter who sent out that story a genuine licking, after the old way, without the aid of a Winchester. It is nearly time for those who know nothing about the Hatfields to cease making themselves utterly ridiculous by writing stories which bear no semblance of correctness.

"Every person of that name is at once styled 'the notorious leader' or head of the 'Hatfield Clan,' when in fact there are numerous people of that name in this section who

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM...It pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

Jas. A. Hughes For Renomination.

The Republicans on Thursday received from Hon. James A. Hughes a formal announcement of his candidacy for renomination for congress. He is making his candidacy known to his constituents through the newspapers for the reason that he is now detained in Washington and can not reach them in person. Mr. Hughes' announcement follows:

To the Republicans of the Fifth Congressional District of West Virginia:

At the request of my friends in the Fifth Congressional district of West Virginia, I have decided again to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress.

I feel that my past record as your representative in Congress justifies me in saying to you that I will do everything in my power to properly represent the interests of the people of our district, and to advance the high ideals of the Republican party in our State.

At the present time the presence of every member of Congress is actually required in Washington, because of the many important bills before Congress, many of which are of vital importance to our State, so that I have felt it would be improper for me to leave Washington until such bills are either enacted or disposed of. I am constrained, therefore, to adopt this public means of acquainting you with my candidacy, which I would have preferred to announce to you personally, if my congressional duties and the welfare of the district had not kept me in actual attendance upon Congress in Washington.

With thanks to the Republicans of my district for their past cordial, loyal and generous support, and pledging my undivided efforts to advance the cause if re-elected, I am, Very sincerely,

JAS. A. HUGHES.

A Letter From Kansas.

Holsington, Kans., Feb. 14.

Not seeing anything in the NEWS from Western Kansas for so long, I thought that a few lines would be interesting to my friends. I have just been reading the NEWS, which is a welcome visitor on every Sunday morning at my home, and to read what has happened during the past week and the past years. I have just been reading of several young people getting married that were only small children when I left Kentucky, and I often read of some of my near neighbors passing away. It seems to me that if I should happen some time in the future to visit old Kentucky again that all of my old friends and neighbors would all be gone.

Well, I have been here almost five years and am getting pretty well acquainted with the West and the western ways. I am living in a little city of 2,000 inhabitants—Holsington, Kansas—in the most prosperous county in the State.

We have had the coldest winter here that I have seen since I have been in the West. More rain and more snow than has been for many years, and the coldest December for 38 years. We have the best prospects for a large crop of all kinds this year that has been for many years. There is a good prospect for a general boom on now, as there is to be a new railroad built north and south, from Oklahoma City through this place to some point in Nebraska, which will be a great help to this country. It will give us a direct market from the south. There is going to be some big improvements done on the Missouri Pacific railroad in Kansas this year. They expect to spend $4,000,000 on its line in the state, and $435,000 in Holsington for shops and yards and other improvements. This town is making some moves to build several new business houses this year and a large 50-room hotel. There was about $75,000 worth of new buildings erected last year. Now are all occupied at present.

There is another railroad to be built running north and south, from Liberal, Okla., to Kerney, Neb., running through the southwest part of the State close to where Dr. Burton and I have some fine land. This will increase the value to a great extent. Besides that we are going to have irrigation, a big irrigation company from Denver, Colo.

Well, I will branch off a little. Mont Rose, who came out here about a year ago, is getting along nicely. He has a good position at the round house at $49 a month. He has a nice home and some land in Texas. His wife and children are having the best of health.

Dr. Hurton says he expects to visit his old home and relatives in Kentucky this summer. This will be a fine trip for him, as he has not been back there for some time. Doctor is getting along fine here.

As I am rushed for time, I will have to bring my letter to a close. Hoping it won't miss the press and hit the waste basket, is the wish of your friend,

MILLARD F. ROSE.

George Washington.

All over this broad land the 22nd of February—Washington's birthday—is celebrated.

How shall any man add ought to the praise or eulogy of George Washington? History and biography, eloquence and poetry have exhausted their combined riches upon the successful leader of the American revolution and the founder of the American republic—our first great national hero.

Every great crisis in the history of the world has found its man to control and guide it. Call this Providence or accident, the American revolution was no exception to it. Before the first murmurs of discontent were heard in that struggle the man was being prepared for the crisis. On the banks of the Potomac and the Rappahannock, thirty years before Lexington and Bunker Hill, a truthful and manly boy was growing up, ripening into stalwart young manhood. With only the common school education of that early day, the young man was soon being educated in the broader school of nature and experience, in the great forest, under the open heavens, with his surveyor's chain and his sword, in Indian wars, defending the frontier settlements from savage incursions.

Crowing still apace, the manly young Virginian is soon the leading spirit and military commander of all that Potomac region, and his skill, endurance and courage in those campaigns swell the measure of his fame. Then with his peace, the young commander lays aside the sword, marries and settles upon his inherited country seat at Mt. Vernon and like his ancestors is now a rich landed proprietor, a Virginian farmer and planter and country gentleman. So he might have remained to the end, had not the voice of patriotism called him to take part with his neighbors and the oppressed people of the colonies against the tyranny of the mother country. Washington sat, with Jefferson and Richard Henry Lee and Mason and Pendleton, colleagues to that first continental congress at Philadelphia.

The guns of Lexington crack, and their far echoes reach the patriot congress at Philadelphia. They waked the colonies to action. It had been debate and petition and remonstrance before—it was war, war for liberty now. Twenty thousand patriot colonists had closed in upon the retreating British in Boston. Who should this leader be? The hour found the man, and out there stepped from the Virginia delegation and advanced to the bar of the house to accept his great trust, this modest frontier colonel, legislator and planter—tall, imposing and commanding in appearance, his fine form made athletic and snappy by long, manly exercise; his judgment ripened by experience in war and peace—the very ideal picture of the hero which the crisis demanded, George Washington, the MAN.

Aside from all questions of success or failure, as we look at the man, what was it that made Washington great? It is clear that it was not the possession of great or brilliant intellectual faculties. Not in Congress or convention, nor as speaker, writer, or even soldier, were these displayed. Other men have excelled him in all these ways, but in a word, it was manhood; it was character; it was moral greatness. It was that nice adjustment of the moral and intellectual faculties, that perfect blending of parts, that lofty sense of duty in the performance of every trust, that spotless truth, that stainless honor, that incorruptible integrity, that faultless courage and unshaken endurance—all these and more that made up that consummate piece of manhood which flowered out in that eighteenth century of time and which is now over more the priceless possession and glory of history. This is the supreme greatness of Washington.

The Love and Respect of Children.

If mothers could only realize what a critical period their children are passing through from the third to the sixth year, they would exercise more than ordinary care during that time. Not only physically but mentally and morally are they undergoing a chance for better or worse, according to the care and attention they receive from their mothers and fathers. A father is no more exempt from certain duties toward his offspring than a mother. He should always bear in mind that his assistance in the control of the children is of more value to his tired wife than the presentation of a costly gift. It is at this time that children begin to notice papa's and mamma's hearing toward one another; let this always be one of perfect courtesy and respect. Nothing so quickly destroys respect for parents as constant bickering in the presence of their children. The first thing a child should be taught is respect for his parents and elders; affection comes naturally with most children, and is the most valuable aid in gaining control of their actions; next to that is respect; without it very little can be accomplished for the child's welfare. Parents should bear in mind that children lose respect very soon on hearing them disagree; using bitter, cutting words to each other. This is inflicting the first actual pain these baby hearts have been called upon to bear. In the presence of this the child experiences conflicting emotions which ends in pity for one parent and contempt for the other. O parent, pause, consider, before you lose this hold on the little being who has heretofore considered you perfect. Let there be unanimity of purpose in act, word and deed before these little creatures, who are so susceptible to every impression, if you would preserve their love and respect.

"Believe nothing you hear and only half of what you see," says the old adage. It is well to bear this in mind while listening to the latest hit of scandal. Never condemn your neighbor unheard, however many the accusations which may be preferred against him. Every story has two ways of being told, and justice requires that you should hear the defense as well as the accusation; and remember that the malignity of enemies may place you in a similar predicament.

PAINTSVILLE NEWS.

COLUMN OF INTERESTING ITEMS GATHERED FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

(Paintsville Herald.)

It is thought the next grand jury will be kept busy for some time investigating gambling in and around Paintsville. During the past month much activity has been shown among the 'playing-cards-for-money' fraternity interest in the work having increased greatly. One man came near losing his life while another languishes in the county jail charged with shooting with intent to kill, and all over some money staked in a game of cards. Young men who ought to know better and who could do much better are interested in the games that have been going on for some weeks. The shooting scrape is likely to result in a wholesale investigation that will bring the gamblers to a realization of the fact that it does not pay.

Last year, after the gamblers had run loose for some time, a wholesale investigation was made by the grand jury which resulted in the wholesale indictment of those indulging in the fascinating of the game, and a voluminous exchange of money soon followed between the players and the officers of the law. It was then thought that gambling would cease as those caught promised to retire. But unfortunately for those involved the fever has again struck the town, if anything a worse attack now being visited upon us.

A well planned jail delivery was frustrated one night this week by Jailer Vanhoose. Mr. Vanhoose discovered several days ago that his "birds" were planning something, so pretending to go to the country he had the fact announced to the inmates who lost no time putting their plans into execution. About nine o'clock at night one of the prisoners called deputy jailer Litteral and asked for a bucket of water which the latter got and apparently unsuspectingly carried it into the corridor of the jail, but the would-be escapees grew uneasy thinking Jailer Vanhoose might be near and the programme was called off. The morning following, Mr. Vanhoose went inside the jail and explained to the prisoners how he had caught on to their plans and was in the hallway ready to give them a warm reception had they attempted to overpower Litteral. It is not likely the same crowd will make a second plan, but if they do the jailer will be on the alert and ready.

His many friends are rejoicing over the high compliment paid Hon. D. J. Wheeler last week by Circuit Judge A. J. Kirk, when the latter caused an order to be spread upon the order book of the Johnson Circuit Court re-appointing him Master Commissioner. The re-appointment is an endorsement of an official whose acts have been such as to make him popular with the members of the bar and the people generally. The members of the bar gave Mr. Wheeler a strong endorsement. During the past six years his official relation with the people has been most pleasant and Judge Kirk is to be commended for his selection.

The regular Baptists are not favorable to a proposition of salary to their pastors, but it is quite evident they will go as far as any in extricating one of their flock from reverses. Some months ago Rev. Marion Castle, a noted minister with strong beliefs in line with the Regulars, was persuaded to join a party headed for the Northwest and soon found himself in the confines of Washington and in the grip of small pox. Rev. Castle had disposed of all his property before going to Washington and the smallpox attack which extended throughout his family soon swiped his money. But his heart was on his old Kentucky home and the good brethren to whom he had preached for years and he wasted no time explaining the situation. No sooner was the distress cry heard than prominent members of the church went to work to raise the necessary funds to restore the distressed preacher to his mountain fastness and into the arms of the people whom he so dearly loved. The amount, $300, has been procured, so we are informed, and soon again Rev. Castle may be heard to exclaim from the pulpit, "Behold I am with you again."

The big revival meetings that have been conducted at the United Baptist Church by all the Baptist congregations and at the M. E. Church by all the Methodist congregations closed last Friday night, after a two weeks' session, resulting in great good spiritually. Revs. Roscoe Murray, E. J. IN MEMORY.

Death visited the home of Amos Cordle and took from him his beloved wife, Aunt Jennie (as she was familiarly known) who was the daughter of Rus Thompson. She was born March 13, 1831, and was married to Amos Cordle 1847. To this union were born sixteen children, of which five have preceded her to the glory world.

Mrs. Cordle joined the United Baptist Church in 1862, and since that time has lived a consistent member until her death. She had a complication of diseases and owing to her extreme age death was the conqueror. She died February 8, 1910, aged 79 years, 10 months and 25 days.

In the death of this dear one the husband has lost a loving companion, the children a kind and affectionate mother, the community an accommodating neighbor. She was ever ready to help the oppressed or distressed.

Interment was made in the Cordle graveyard at her old home place. Funeral services were conducted by Moses Wiley. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to Mr. Cordle and children in their bereavement.

The roads are in a horrible condition, it being almost impossible to haul the goods from the depot at Louisa to our neighborhood stores.

Buck Atkins, one of our neighbors, has taken unto himself a wife, who was no other than Miss Mary Compton, a daughter of Henry Compton, of Cat. They are both very worthy people. This is the third launch on the matrimonial sea for the groom and the first for the bride.

Also, on the 16th inst., Miss Ethel Pigg and Walter Diamond, an esteemed young couple of this place, were married at the bride's home, at the house of Mrs. George Carter, Sr., the Rev. R. F. Rice, officiating. These couples have the best wishes of the community.

Rev. R. F. Rice is holding a very successful protracted meeting at Green Valley, on Cat. To date there have been several conversions and a like number of accessions to the church.

John A. Berry and daughter, Miss Geneva, and Floyd Austin are all on the sick list.

Just above here on Blaine an old lady by the name of Starr, mother of William Starr, died and was buried on Friday of last week.

It is said that a new mail carrier is to be on the Louisa and Tuscola route via Yatesville in a few days. We hope the service will be as good in the future as it has been for the last several months past.

S. P. Greenslat, the new proprietor of the Crisp Livery Barn, Greenup, who recently moved from the country, has one of the smartest horses ever come to this town. He unties his own halter strap, goes to the pump and gets himself a drink and if there is no water draw he raps the halter strap around the pump handle and works the pump until he has drawn himself a drink, and then goes back to his stall, so 'tis said.—Greenup Republican.

The oil business is arousing some interest among our local capitalists. The strikes made recently in Lawrence county and the advent of representatives of large oil companies into this county has put our capitalists to thinking. The Crescent Oil Company was organized here Tuesday and will lease all the available territory in the county. That the interest now manifested will result in the sinking of a number of test wells is now a foregone conclusion.—Prestonsburg Herald.

Last Friday morning while a crowd of men were standing around waiting for their turns at the saw and grist mill of James Haulsey, near Hardman, Wolfe county, the hoiler let go with terrific force, instantly killing Elementary Campbell and Henry Perry, a son of Thomas Perry. A number of the bystanders were seriously injured, some of whom are not expected to recover. It is not positively known what caused the explosion, but it is said that the water in the boiler was low and cold water was suddenly pumped into it.

The sudden changes of weather has been the means of lengthening our sick list. Grippe has a grip on most everybody in Prestonsburg, and the seeming contagious continues to spread unabated. Harkins, Mrs. Lee Porter, Miss Annie Jones, Mrs. Hollifield, Mrs. Annie Davidson, Mrs. Jas. H. Spradlin and daughter Mary, Judge D. O. Harmon, E. B. Auxler, James Goble, Sr., Mrs. W. C. Goble, C. C. The groom is 23 years of age, and is one of our most worthy young men, having secured a lucrative position with the Cumberland Pipe Line Co., on its advent into this field, which he has filled with credit to himself and company ever since. The bride is 20 years of age, and a successful school teacher, and one of our most beautiful society girls.—Prestonsburg Herald.
